Manager O'Connor signed three more players yesterday. Pitcher Rube Walters of Canton and Infielders William Britton and C. Hobart of Cleveland. This gives the club three pitchers in Walters, Rafferty, the Western Reserve man, and Clay Bancke of Sandusky. Jerry Freeman, formerly of Washington, and Ort, with Portland last season, are the other infielders, while Joe Delahanty and Pfeiffer of Albany are the only outfielders signed to date. O'Connor had a bunch of players coming from St. Louis, but has released them as not being fast enough.

 corked by Roblson or Myers, who have shown fine form with the stick.

Billy Murphy, given his old berth in right field, bats fifth, with Bill Britton, the aggressive infielder from Cleveland, following. Britton will play Scotty Aleock's position at third. Humphryos at second and the batteryman round out the order for the Regs.

Bade is after a man to nail down the job. He wants such a player and wants him badly. The leading candidate now is Bill Britton, the Cleveland lad who held down the sack in the U. S. league last season.

But Bade's efforts to pick another man out of the discards from the higher leagues indicate that he is not entirely satisfied with Britton as a third-baseman. Britton is a fine fielder, has a good head and has speed. He lacks only the ability to hit. Could he pickle the ball for about .260 there would be no doubt as to the occupant of third for the coming season.

Manager Bade whetted his pruning shears after seeing the Wheeling Smokes inflict the first defeat of the season Sunday. When he had taken a full evening meal as a nerve bracer he confided to three Statesmen that they were no longer such.

The trio to be detached from the pay roll of the Canton club were Fred Martin, outfielder; Pitcher Gotshall and Bill Britton, third-baseman. Gotshall was with Canton last season. The other two were recruits picked up this spring.

Martin had all but one qualification to insure a berth. He was a willing worker, a good fielder, fair on the bases and young. But he lacked form at the bat. His swing did not put force behind the ball, being a push rather than a swing. Gotshall failed to impress Bade with his ability as a Class B heaver and Britton was in the same boat with Martin—he couldn't hit.

Bade tried to place Martin with several clubs but failed. He was willing to hand him over to Montgomery, of the Stubs, but Monty could not see the wisdom of adding Martin to his corps of gardeners, as his outfield is stronger than any

 William Britton, a third sacker from

 Manager Murray to fill the shoes of Charley Bonine, who held down that

 Campbell, Comstock, and several others are expected to fall in line this
