and it is certain we shall get together.
"Of the infielders, the only new one is Rod Murphy, a youngster I signed in Washington. He was with the Norfolk club of the Virginia League in 1912, but last year he refused to sign and took a government job in Washington in the Agricultural Department. He played with a team from the department, and everybody in Washington touted him to me as the best player in the independent ranks in the city.
MURPHY WILL MAKE GOOD

Rod Murphy did not play professionally in 1913.

ERCE PAUL MCSWENEY CALLS FOR THE KICK OFF

RIBBY MURPHY WILL PLAY IN THREE I

With the receipt of the contract of "Ribby" Murphy of St. Louis, touted as a wonder at third base, the infield of the Springfield baseball club of the Three I League for the season is complete. Murphy, who is wintering in Oklahoma, will report April 1.

Murphy comes to Springfield with a great reputation as a slugger and a fielder. He was with the St. Louis Federal League team last season, but came to the decision that organized ball was the place for him. Secretary T. W. Allen of the Springfield club tendered him a contract, which he has signed, and expresses satisfaction with the opportunity to play in an organized league.
