DES MOINES, IOWA, Aug. 25.—[Special]—

Of all the farces ever put up under the name of baseball the greatest was that today between Des Moines and Davenport. The latter club came here with six men and got three amateurs, Watt, Hupp and Leyden, to help them out. The score could have been 50 to nothing as well as what it was. Smith tossed the ball to them and if they hit it the home team let it go, while Des Moines, when at bat, would give the visitors every chance possible to put them out, sometimes not even starting for first after hitting the ball toward any player, and striking out after the fourth inning to hurry the game through. The score:

Special Dispatch to the Globe-Democrat.

DES MOINES, Io., August 25.—The Davenports appeared here to-day for their first game in the Western Association, and were greeted by a good audience. They had only six men, however, and the balance of the team was made up of Des Moines amateurs—Watts, Hupp and Leyden. The home team played out of position on account of steamers being laid up, Quinn having been sold to Bos-

THE INSTITUTE.

THE County Normal Institute opened yesterday morning in the West Side high school building with a good attendance. All the instructors were present and promptly began work organizing the classes and assigning the students to their proper grades. With this work the most of the first day was occupied, but the organization was so completed that the daily programme will be begun this morning. Half day recitation sessions will be held giving a half day for the teachers to themselves and to prepare their review studies. The enrollment was good for the first day, the following persons registering: Laurayne Browne, Dora Harrold, Abbie Anderson, Mary C. Askren, Ruth V. Randolph, Nellie E. Dean, George B. Hupp, Mrs. C. R. Thompson, Emma Callen, Tillie Jenney, Lizzie Fleming, Minnie McCall, Nettie Brookover, Jessie L. Siskey, Ella McCarren, M n-

BASE BALL.

The Leavenworth baseball association feels that it has not had the support it should have received during the present season and thinks that the citizens should assist in the way of donations or aid of some kind. They have had several very flattering offers for the club and franchise. The club can be sold for sufficient to pay all debts of the association. If it should be sold the sale would put an end to baseball in Leavenworth. We do not think the city can afford to let the club go. We think the citizens should keep it here, as it is as strong as any in the league with every chance of winning the pennant.

DUBUQUE'S CLUB.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, April 19.—Special Telegram.
—The Dubuque base-ball team that will contest for the pennant in the Interstate League this season was chosen to-day as follows: First base, George A. Derker, Los Angeles, Cal.; second base, Max Suhr, Monticello, Iowa; short stop, Arthur L. Richardson, Hamilton, Canada; Third base, Frank Carlin, Chicago; pitchers, H. J. Burrell, Bethel, Vt.; Edward Keas, Dubuque; Clyde McVickers, Guthrie Center; Frank Wolf, Brownsville, Minn.; catchers, George B. Hupp, Des Moines; C. E. Jones, Kansas City. The pitchers and catchers will change to the field. The team leaves here Monday to play three games at Fort Dodge, one at Clarksville Thursday, one at Waterloo Friday, and one at Independence Saturday, and will return Saturday evening, and remain until Wednesday, when they will go to Ottawa, Ill., to open the season there May 1. The uniforms were given out to-day, and are quite attractive, being in bluish gray trimmed with red.

The Des Moines Leader says:

Mr. A. Connolly leaves today to join the Dubuque team of the Iowa Illinois league. Mr. Connolly is one of the best young players Des Moines has ever turned out. George Hupp also joins the Dubuque team. He was with the old Leavenworth team of the Western league of 1883, and made a good record there as an all-round player. Mr. McCaull has secured a good player in Mr. Hupp, and he is in shape to play a good game of ball this year. He is a fine catcher and a good fielder and batter.

Cedar Rapids Gazette April 22, 1890

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year by Capital lodge, A. O. U. W.: Master workman, Lafayette Owens; foreman, Fred Goebel; overseer, Fenton Groves; recorder, George W. Day; financier, J. Smith Burnett; receiver, James S. Carpenter; guide, William M. Carpenter; inside watchman, Martin Hartung; outside watchman, Henry C. Heydingsfelder; trustee, George B. Hupp. William A. Welday becomes past master workman.

Des Moines Register Dec 3, 1896

George B. Hupp is a new candidate in the field for city electrician. He has the endorsement of many of the large labor bodies of the city. N. Rosseau has withdrawn from the contest and will remove from the city. Mr. Hupp has been engaged in the electrical craft here for thirteen years, and is fully competent for the position he seeks. He has the endorsement of all the houses for whom he has done work as a capable man, who understands the business.

Des Moines Register April 12, 1901

No action has yet been taken by the city council in regard to the resignation of George B. Hupp as city electrical inspector, but it is expected that the resignation will be officially acted upon and steps taken toward preparing for the appointment of a successor within a short time.

Mr. Hupp's resignation does not take effect until the expiration of his regular term of office on March 31, but the ordinance which requires that a competitive examination of applicants shall be held prior to the making of the appointment, necessitates action before that date.

porated, and vice president of the Iowa Machine Company, Inc., both of Cedar Rapids, was born May 23, 1912, in that city. He is the older son of William Forrest and Loula Margaret (Willson) Hupp, his younger brother being William Victor Hupp, who served five years in the armed forces and is now an electrical engineer in Chicago, Illinois.

Mr. Hupp's grandfather, George B. Hupp, was born in Jeffron, Pennsylvania, and died in Cedar Rapids. He was the first city electrician in Des Moines. He moved to Cedar Rapids, where he became president of the first electrical union there, Local No. 5. He was also a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the Modern Woodmen of America. He married Mary Galligher, a native of Iowa, who died in Rockwell. William Forrest Hupp, father of the subject of this sketch, was born in Des Moines, April 8, 1889, and died in Cedar Rapids, October 14, 1938. He also was an electrician by trade. His first employment was with the Quaker Oats Company of Cedar Rapids, as electrician for two years. In 1912 he organized the Electric Motors Company at 219 First Avenue, Southwest, where he was in business until his death, at which time he was sole owner of the firm. At one time he was also president of the Cold Storage Locker Company of Cedar Rapids. He was a Demo-
