

Fred Nyce

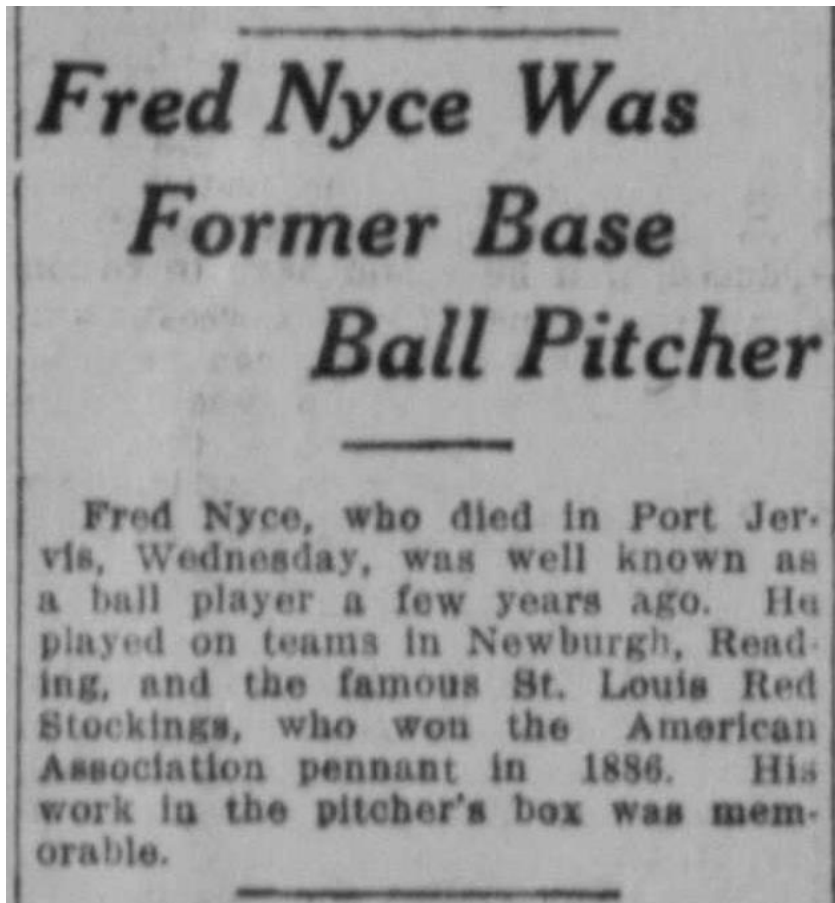

Fred Nyce played for various team in Pennsylvania and Ohio in 1887, starting with the club in Reading, PA. When that team disbanded in July, he joined the team in Columbus, OH. The Sun (New York) reports that Von der Ahe signed Nyce and Pete Sommers on December 10, 1887, along with returning catcher Jack Boyce, while on a trip to the east coast to attend Association meetings. (Von der Ahe also traded several players from the core of the 1887 Browns during this trip in a series of deals that effectively dismantled his three-peat championship club.) Nyce was signed to pitch for the Browns, but he ended up with the Whites very quickly in Spring Training.

On the Whites' Spring Training road trip, Nyce pitched in a three-man rotation with Staley and Sommers until the final game of the trip, when he played in the outfield. He played center field on May 1 in the second game of the season, and then moved to the mound for his first start of the season on May 10. The St. Louis Republican reports "Nyce, who is still suffering from a sore arm, was put in to pitch for the Whites, and his delivery was wild and erratic." After this start, Nyce and Staley were the only starters for the remainder of the season (save two games in late May).

After the Whites disbanded, Nyce headed back east, where he signed on with Hamilton of the International Association. He played with Burlington of the Central Interstate League in 1889, and then Dallas in the Texas League in 1890. With Dallas he is credited with a 1-6 record, but an ERA of 1.69 in 8 games (52 innings). There is no other record for Fred Nyce in professional baseball after 1890.

A Base Ball Club for Reading.

The following, in reference to the Reading Base Ball Association, which has been admitted to membership in the Pennsylvania State Association, is from the Sporting Life of yesterday: The Reading club has signed the following players up to date: H. C. Myers, Manager and second base; M. J. Godfellow, catcher; Fred. Nyce, pitcher; George H. Townsend, catcher; Benj. S. Townsend, pitcher; Moses Kingsley, third baseman; George F. Ertelt, centre fielder. The management are in communication with a left fielder, short stop and first baseman, and before many days will have the team all complete to commence the season of '87 with not only a very strong club, but a gentlemanly and sober set of men, and intend giving the Reading public a fine exhibition of base ball the coming season. Work will begin on the new grounds as soon as the weather will permit. Any clubs wishing to arrange dates after April 17 can do so by addressing the Manager, H. C. Myers, 1015 Sansom street, Philadelphia.

A Sharp Fielding Game with the Reading Club.

[Special to Sunday Leader.]

READING, June 4.—Johnstown couldn't find Nyce this afternoon, and as a consequence was shut out. Only thirty of the visitors came to the bat, and in seven innings they were retired in one, two, three order. The game, which was very short, was characterized by sharp fielding on both sides. The score is as follows:

vania State League, will not disband.

A dispatch from Reading, Pa., says :
The Reading club has disbanded. Lack of support of the action of the Wilkesbarre and Williamsport clubs are the causes. To-day the players have been telegraphing and writing in all directions for positions. There is two weeks' salary due them, amounting to $400, and unless the stockholders care to sink $40 more each the men will go away without it. Goodfellow, the catcher, has offers from St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Indianapolis; third-baseman Kingsley and pitcher Nyce will probably go to Columbus; short-stop Stine expects to join the Hazleton club; Long will catch for Sunbury and McCloskey will return to his home in Philadelphia. The attempt to run a club here has resulted in a loss of over $2,000.

President Stern is of the opinion that Cleveland will cut quite a swath in next season's race. The new pitchers are Henry Oberlander, Wm. Stemmver and M. Y. Goodfellow. They have three other promising players in A. P. Albert, J. S. Faatz and Enoch Bakely. The St. Louis will experiment with a number of young players, and upon their development will largely depend their success in the race. Among the new faces to be seen with the champions next season are Pete Sommers, Fred Nyce and Nicholson of last year's Ohio League. Fred Mann and "Chippy" McGarr with the Athletics last season. Other promising players will in time be transferred from the St. Louis Western League Club. The Kansas City Club has not been perfected as yet, but it will be composed of old and well-tried players whose faces are familiar to the patrons of the game in this city.

It was expected that Nyce the new pitcher signed by the Hamiltons, would arrive in time for the afternoon game, but he did not get here until after 4 o'clock and Pete Wood at his own request occupied the box again. He pitched with wonderful effect, being even more invulnerable than in the morning contest, although the same number of hits were made in each game. Not a hit was made off him until the fifth inning and the visitors failed to score a run. The "Hams" are now square with the Rochesterers for the whitewashing they received in

“Manager Holland of the Dallas (Texas) club has signed... pitcher Fred Nyce of Port Jervis, NY.” Buffalo Courier Dec 25, 1889

Numerous other reports that he joined the Dallas team in January/February of 1890.

“Fred Nyce, the crack pitcher of the Hudson River League, has joined the Dallas (Tex) team.” St. Paul Globe March 30, 1890

Nyce was pounded in a loss to Houston, in which he shifted to 2b during the game. – Fort Worth Daily Gazette April 12, 1890

Nyce umpired a game between Dallas and Fort Worth. (No league umpires were available.) – Fort Worth Daily Gazette April 4, 1890

Nyce lost to Galveston 6-0 on April 15, 1890.

Lost to Galveston 7-1 on May 4, 1890. Won a game against the Panthers on May 12, 1890. Lost a game against Waco on May 16, 1890. Lost to Austin on May 21, 1890. There were rumors the Dallas team would fold in the article on the May 21 game.

This is the next mention of Fred Nyce after the loss on May 21, 1890:

BASE BALL NOTES.

—The Ellenville team defeated the Waldens, Saturday, by the score of 17-8. Fred. Nyce and Harris, of the Port Jarvis team, composed the battery. Dawson, who pitched against the Asylums, did not play with the Waldens at this game.

Middletown Times-Press June 10, 1890

There is an additional mention of Fred Nyce playing for Port Jarvis in the Middletown paper in June 1890.

To-day's Game at the Asylum Grounds.

The attendance at to-day's base ball game between the Port Jervis and the Asylums was large. The grounds were in excellent condition. Game was called at 2:30.

The following team appeared for the visitors: John Nolan, 1st base; Burns, 3rd; Shey, catcher; Nyce, pitcher; McDonald, 2nd base; Farley, c. f.; Harris, s. s.; Meyers, r. f. and James Nolan, l. f. For the home club: Gordou, l. f.; Tierney, p.; Genigel, 3rd base; Nicholson, c. f.; Degnan, 2nd base; McCreevy, c.; Harvey, 1st base; Brown, s. s. and Hay, r. f.

At the end of the sixth inning, as we go to press, the score stood 4 to 2 in favor of the Asylums. Dr. Arthur is umpire.

Middletown Times-Press June 13, 1890

"Nyce" appears in the box score playing 3b for the Keystone against Doyletown in the Philadelphia Enquirer July 13, 1890. No first name given. He appears again on July 20, 1890, per the Times of Philadelphia. There is a "Nyce" playing right field for the ACSN team on August 24, 1890 (The Times), and again on August 29, 1890.

The Highlands Shut Out.

SPECIAL TO THE INQUIRER.

NORRISTOWN, May 30.—After being defeated by Charley Mason's aggregation on Tuesday the home team started in to-day and redeemed themselves by whitewashing the Highlands of Manayunk by a score of 13 to 0. The Norristown Club jumped on to Gordon's delivery from the first and batted out a monotonously long string of base hits that compelled Gordon to retire in favor of Kelly.

Holmesburg's Great Victory.

THE BALL GAME.

Yesterday afternoon a very interesting game of base ball was played on the Main street grounds between the Delawares, of this village, and the Sports, of Honesdale, which the Sports won after a very exciting contest. The game was advertised to commence at three o'clock, but owing to some delay, play was not called until 3:45, with the Delawares at the bat. The first striker, Goodfellow, led off with a base hit, stole second, and through errors on the part of the Sports finally managed to score. The next three batters were easily disposed of. When the Delawares opened play Nyce was put in to pitch and gave the first two batsmen their bases by hitting them with the ball. Through wretched fielding on the part of the Delawares they scored three runs, without a hit being made. In the second inning Nyce did no better, giving two more batters their bases by hitting them. Although but one base hit was made they scored four runs, thus making a total of seven in the first two innings. In the third inning the Delawares substituted Nolan for Nyce, and but six runs were scored off his able delivery during the remainder of the game. The game was very exciting throughout, and some exceptionally fine professional engagement, and he joined the Salem team of the New England association, then managed by Frank Leonard. When the association went to pieces, Leonard went to manage the Portlands of the New England league, and he took Yerrick with him. He made a good showing with the club, and at the close of the season was one of the finest twirlers in the league.

An instance of Yerrick's effectiveness was against New Bedford in a game in that city on Aug. 13, when he retired the club with only two safe hits. The event was the pitching record of the year in the New England league. While pitching for the Salem team against Lawrence at Salem on May 8, 1895, he prevented the team from securing more than two safe hits. His feat was particularly noteworthy against the New Bedford team, as such good batters as Walters, Weihl, Charles Nyce, Fred Doe, Sharpe, the Western league slugger, Murphy and Delaney were members of the club.

The new schedule for the Western association is not as good as the old one, and Kansas City does not have a game from to-day until the Fourth of July, when it plays at Omaha.

Manager Pryne of the Sioux City nine that is to be begun to hustle for players the moment he got his franchise. He sent away over $1,000 to players in advance money yesterday, and will have a team together by the Fourth of July. Hines, Burch and Nyce of the disbanded Whites, have signed with Sioux City.
